Invertebrates: Arthropods

Arthropods is not only the largest group of invertebrates, it contains more species than all other groups of animals combined. They all have segmented bodies, an exoskeleton, and jointed legs. Insects, spiders, crustaceans, millipedes, and centipedes are all arthropods.