Invertebrates: Cnidarians

Cnidarians have a large central body cavity and a single body opening, called a mouth. Most have tentacles and stinging cells to help them catch their prey. Common cnidarians are jellyfish, sea anemones, hydras, and corals.