

Natural Substances: Sapphire

Sapphire is the name given to a variety of gems composed of the mineral corundum. However, when this same mineral is red in color, it is referred to as a ruby. Blue is the most desired color of sapphire, but they can also be colorless, brown, black, or grey. Sapphire is September's birthstone.

